Peak District and Yorkshire Dales - Looking Ahead

	Wednesday 19 July	Thursday 20 July
How windy? (On the summits) Effect of wind on you?	Detail uncertain in this forecast: East veering south, later westerly, 20 to 30mph, but at times less. Fairly small, but risk sudden gusts around thunderstorms.	West backing southwesterly, 15 to 25mph, but risk strengthening later from west to 35-40mph. Fairly small, may deteriorate late in day.
How wet?	Risk of thunderstorms Pulses of heavy rain and possible thunderstorms, may give local torrential falls from before dawn. Tending to clear northwards, but scattered downpours may follow.	Dry much of the day Patchy rain or drizzle post-dawn should fade, leaving most or all day dry. Later, a few showers may develop from the south-west.
Cloud on the hills?	Extensive around rain Shrouding the hills most or all day, from forest canopies up during and following rain. At times breaks may form to higher tops.	Extensive but lifting Covering some tops in morning, but lifting, and the hills are likely to all clear. Patches may form around showers later.
Chance of cloud free summits?	50%	80%
Sunshine and air clarity?	Any sunshine generally hazy. Visibility reduced around rain.	Sunshine breaking through from time to time. Visibility very good overall, slight haze.
Temperature (at 600m) And in the valleys	14 to 18C; humid. A muggy 20 to 23C, perhaps up to 25C away from rain.	9 to 12C Feeling fresher, 16 to 20C, warmest east & Peak District.

Planning OutlookAll mountain areas of Britain from Wednesday, 19 July, 2017

A brief surge of warm and humid air on Wednesday brings areas of heavy rain and thunderstorms, advancing north. Later in the week, and into the weekend, a mix of sunshine and heavy showers, or some longer periods of rain as low pressure resides close to Britain. Blustery winds, gales on the mountains at times. Feeling cool, particularly in Scotland. Next week, a mixed west to north-westerly pattern, with occasional showers, although pressure may slowly build.
