Planning OutlookAll mountain areas of Britain from Saturday, 19 May, 2018

Frequently dry with forecast charts indicating fairly high pressure over the next week to 10 days. Nevertheless, not completely dry with rain NW Britain Sunday and Monday, and threat bursts of thundery rain England and Wales centred on Tuesday. Fairly warm, but with significant snow patches remaining on the Scottish Highlands; despite sustained snowmelt, routes onto some Munros (mainly those coming in from the north) are likely to remain blocked by hard snow and ice.
